Definitions

1. In these regulations, any word or expression to which a meaning has been given in the Act bears that meaning, and unless the context otherwise indicates, “the Act” means the Labour Act, 2007 (Act No. 11 of 2007).

Portion of basic wage that may be paid in-kind and calculation of the value of in-kind payments

2. (1) The portion of the basic wage that an employer may pay to an employee in-kind is an amount which does not exceed the equivalent of one-third of the employee’s basic wage.

(2) The calculation of the cash equivalent of any payment in-kind must be based on the producers’ prices of the commodities comprising the in-kind payment, or in absence of a producers’ price for any commodity, the average price of the commodity at an agriculture cooperative or wholesalers in the nearest city or town.

Written statement of particulars of monetary remuneration

3. The written statement of particulars referred to in section 11(3) that must accompany payment of monetary remuneration to an employee must contain the matters set out Annexure 1.

Exemption from a wage order

4. (1) An application to the Minister for exemption from a wage order in terms of section 14(1) of the Act must be made on Form LM 1 set out in Annexure 2.

(2) The exemption from a wage order referred to in section 14(3) of the Act must be issued on Form LM 2 set out in Annexure 2, and it must be signed by the Minister.

(3) The fee payable to the Permanent Secretary for a copy of an exemption order is N$ 5 per page.

REGULATIONS
Labour Act 11 of 2007*Labour General Regulations

Compassionate leave

5. (1) An application for compassionate leave in terms of section 25(3) of the Act must be made on a form determined by the employer but the form must substantially correspond to Form LS 3 set out in Annexure 2.

(2) The application for compassionate leave must be made either before the applicant takes leave, or if not possible, immediately upon applicant's return to work.

(3) An application for compassionate leave must be accompanied by a death certificate of the deceased, in case of death, or a medical certificate, in case of serious illness or, an affidavit of the employee testifying to the death or serious illness, or, in all cases, such other evidence of death or illness as may be acceptable to the employer.

(4) If the applicant cannot make the application before going on leave, the applicant must make reasonable efforts to notify the employer of his or her absence for compassionate reasons and the intended duration of thereof.

Election of health and safety representatives

6. (1) Whenever it is necessary in terms of section 43 of the Act to conduct an election of a health and safety representative or representatives, the election must be held in the manner prescribed in this regulation.

(2) An election for a health and safety representative must be held at least every two years, or as and when a casual vacancy or vacancies arise.

(3) An election for a health and safety representative must be held in cooperation with the exclusive bargaining agent of the employees, or, if there is none, in cooperation with the employees, and subject to the requirements set out in subregulations (4) to (8).

(4) A committee consisting of two representatives of the exclusive bargaining agent or, if there is none, two employees, and two representatives of the employer must be established to oversee the conduct of the nominations and the election.

(5) Nominations must take place one week before the voting.

(6) An employee may nominate himself or herself or any other employee to stand for election.

(7) The election must be conducted -

(a) at the employer's premises;

(b) during working hours;

(c) with a minimum disruption of the employer's operations; and

(d) by secret ballot.

(8) The ballots must be counted immediately after the voting has been concluded, and the committee must, in writing, make the results known to the employer and employees.

REGULATIONS
Labour Act 11 of 2007*Labour General Regulations

(9) If an employer has recognized a registered trade union as the exclusive bargaining representative of any of its employees, the employer and the trade union may agree on the manner in which the election should be conducted, subject to the requirements set out in subregulations (4) to (8).

(10) The trade union must retain records of the ballots cast and the names of the elected representatives for a period of two years from the date of the election.

(11) No later than two months after the election of a health and safety representative, the employer must, through an accredited company or institute, provide training for the health and safety representative in the duties of the position.

Change in constitution of registered trade union or registered employers' organization

7. (1) An application to the Labour Commissioner for a change in the constitution of a registered trade union or registered employer's organisation in terms of section 54(2)(b) of the Act must be made on Form LC 4 set out in Annexure 2 and must be accompanied by two (2) copies of a resolution containing the wording of the change and a certificate signed by the chairperson stating that the resolution was passed in accordance with the constitution.

(2) If the Labour Commissioner approves a change in a constitution of a registered trade union or registered employers' organisation, the Commissioner must issue a certificate in terms of section 54(4)(b) of the Act on Form LC 5 set out in Annexure 2, and if it is a change of name, a new certificate of registration.

The annual return to be submitted to the Labour Commissioner in terms of section 60(e) of the Act must be on Form LC 9, and must be accompanied by a statement of income and expenditure for that year, a balance sheet showing its financial position at the end of the year, and its annual audit report prepared by a registered public accountant and auditor or an auditor approved by the Labour Commissioner.

Request for recognition of registered trade union as exclusive bargaining agent

REGULATIONS
Labour Act 11 of 2007*Labour General Regulations

11. (1) A request by a registered trade union for recognition in terms of section 64(3) of the Act must be made on Form LC 10 set out in Annexure 2.

(2) Within 30 days after receiving the trade union request for recognition, the employer must, in terms of section 64(5) of the Act, notify the trade union on Form LC 11 set out in Annexure 2, that it recognises the trade union as the exclusive bargaining agent or that refuses to recognize the trade union.

(3) If the employer fails to respond to the trade union's request within 30 days or fails to recognise the trade union as an exclusive bargaining agent, the trade union may, in terms of section (64)(6) of the Act, refer its request to the Labour Commissioner as a dispute on Form LC 12 set out in Annexure 2.

Notification to registered trade union to acquire majority representation

12. Notice which must be given in terms of section 64(11) of the Act by an employer to a trade union recognised as an exclusive bargaining agent, when the employer considers that the trade union no longer represents the majority of the employees in the bargaining unit, must be given on Form LC 13 set out in Annexure 2.

[The word "bargaining" is misspelt in the Government Gazette, as reproduced above.]

Election of workplace union representatives

13. (1) Where employees who are members of a registered trade union are entitled, in terms of section 67 of the Act, to elect a workplace union representative or representatives, the election must be conducted in the manner set out in this regulation.

(2) On being requested by the registered trade union, the employer must provide facilities that are reasonably necessary for conducting the election.

(3) The registered trade union must assign at least two representatives to supervise the elections.

(4) Nominations of the candidates must take place at least one week before the voting.

(5) The election must be conducted -

(a) at the employer's premises;

(b) during working hours;

(c) with a minimum disruption of the employer's operations;

(d) by secret ballot; and

(e) in accordance with the trade union's constitution.

(6) The employer may observe the election process.

(7) The ballots must be counted immediately after the voting has been concluded, and the union must, in writing, make the results known to the employer and employees.
