

Seeking Safety

Increasing awareness of the IMPACT OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE in Namibia

What is a protection order?

A protection order is a court order saying that the abuser must stop the violent behaviour, stay away from the people who are being abused, or even leave the family home altogether.

How do you apply for a protection order?

1. Go to the Magistrate's Court. You do not need a lawyer and the Clerk of the Court will help you to fill in the forms.
2. You should take any witnesses who have seen the violence and any evidence you may have, such as medical records.
3. The Magistrate will look at your application. If there is enough evidence, a temporary protection order will be made. The Magistrate may want more information before making a decision.
4. When the abuser is given the protection order, he/she must decide to accept it or to disagree with it.
5. If the abuser disagrees, an informal hearing will be held with the Magistrate. This hearing is private. At the hearing, both people can tell their side of the story. The Magistrate will then decide whether or not to make a final protection order.
6. If the abuser accepts the protection order, the protection order becomes final without a hearing.
7. The court will send a copy of the protection order to the local police station.

Poster series produced by the Legal Assistance Centre with support from UNICEF

unicef
unite for children

Photo by Syliva Kinces

Disclaimer:
The persons depicted in this series of posters are not actual victims.

ZERO TOLERANCE FOR DOMESTIC VIOLENCE!